EMERGENCY BILLS QUICKLY FRAMED

Senate Commerce Committee to Begin Hearings.

TIME FOR STUDY IS ASKED

Congress Will Urge Brotherhoods to Delay Strike One Week—President Wilson May Make Public Appeal as Last Resort.

Washington, Aug. 31.—All the influence of the administration was brought to bear in an effort to persuade the railroad brotherhood leaders to cancel or postpone the order calling a nationwide strike Monday, while leaders in congress began paving the way for legislation designed to prevent or stop the threatened industrial catastrophe.

Little tangible progress was made in either direction, but nevertheless in official quarters there still prevailed confidence that in one way or another the walkout would be averted.

Public Appeal Likely.

To the spokesmen of President Wilson who approached them, all of the brotherhood officials gave the same reply; that they had no power to recall the strike order and that only one thing—a satisfactory settlement—could keep their men at work after 7 a. m. Labor day.

Further pressure will be brought to bear, and as a last resort the president is considering a public appeal to the men themselves to have the order rescinded.

Apparently the legislation which is being counted upon to stay the brotherhoods, is that part of the president's program which would fix an eight-hour day for railroad employees engaged in operating trains in interstate commerce, and provide for an investigation of its effects by a commission or board.

This embodies the principal features of the president's original plan, accepted by the trainmen, and W. G. Lee, head of the trainmen, said that its enactment with a guarantee of the present rate of daily pay would be regarded by the brotherhood leaders as a "satisfactory settlement."

Would Call Off Strike.

Immediately upon it becoming a law, he said, the brotherhood leaders would send out the code message notifying general chairman that the strike order should not go into effect.

Even some of the congressional leaders who oppose other features of the program say such a law could be passed.

The trainmen say any court order directed against them with a view to preventing a strike would be ineffective for the reason that the strike order has passed from their hands and they have no power to recall it.

Senate Debates Crisis.

The senate virtually sidetracked the emergency revenue bill for an all-day debate on the railway crisis, while the interstate commerce committee arranged for hearings when representatives of both sides will be heard. Three hours will be given to each side, and then the committee will begin drafting legislation into shape for presentation to the senate Saturday.

One dominant thought in the minds of members of congress generally resulted in the introduction of a resolution by Senator Blair Lee of Maryland, calling upon officials of the railroad brotherhoods to postpone execution of the strike order for one week to give congress sufficient time for intelligent consideration of legislation suggested in President Wilson's message.

NORTHWEST STRIKE HEADQUARTERS OPEN

St. Paul, Aug. 31.—Headquarters from which the threatened railway strike will be managed for the Northwest have been opened here.

A number of the labor leaders have returned from Washington, where they took part in the conferences with President Wilson. Others are to come in later and take charge of the Northwest strike headquarters in St. Paul.

The leaders who are on hand hold out a little hope yet that the strike may be averted if congress takes up President Wilson's legislative program. "There is no way, though," they said, "of halting the strike in order to wait for congress to act. All that will stop a walkout Monday morning is for the president's program to be rushed through before then. Everything is arranged for the strike to begin at 7 a. m. Monday and there will be no more parleying."

MISS JEANETTE RANKIN.

Nominated for Congress in Montana Primary.

WOMAN WINS NOMINATION

Miss Jeanette Rankin Leads Six Montana Candidates.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 31.—Miss Jeanette Rankin of Missoula appears to have been nominated by the Republicans for congress. Latest returns give her an apparently safe lead over six male candidates. George W. Farr of Miles City is believed to have won the other Republican nomination for congress.

Other nominations indicated are: Governor, Sam V. Stewart, Democrat, renominated. United States senators, Henry L. Meyers, Democrat, renominated; Charles N. Pray, Republican. Frank Edwards of Helena and E. H. Cooney of Great Falls are running a close race for the Republican nomination for governor.

John M. Evans of Missoula and Harry B. Mitchell of Great Falls apparently have won the Democratic nominations for congress.

RAIL STRIKE MEANS BUSINESS PARALYSIS

New York, Aug. 31.—All indications are that the commerce of the United States will be virtually at a standstill Sunday, if the order calling the 400,000 members of the trainmen brotherhoods out on strike Sept. 4 is not withdrawn.

The blow is falling first on the food supply of the nation.

The paralyzing effect of such a strike as now seems inevitable was borne home to railway heads, union officials and shippers alike as orders went out from various railway headquarters establishing embargoes on all perishable goods, which include foodstuffs.

The Pennsylvania railway, representing one of the biggest systems in the country, issued a statement establishing an embargo which will include freight of every description.

This means the Pennsylvania will attempt to move no freight after Saturday.

The Lackawanna followed the lead of the New Haven and other roads by announcing an embargo on perishable goods that cannot be delivered before Sept. 4.

JOHNSON WINS NOMINATION

Is Republican Candidate for Senator From California.

San Francisco, Aug. 31.—On the face of incomplete returns Governor Hiram W. Johnson won the Republican nomination for United States senator. The campaign attracted wide interest because Chester H. Rowell of Fresno, a member of the Republican national campaign committee, protested to the committee and to Charles E. Hughes that the forces of the Republican state central committee were aligned openly behind Willis H. Booth, Los Angeles banker, who contested the senatorial nomination.

CHARGE ELECTION FRAUDS

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 31.—Twenty men, including Edward O'Toole, representative of United States steel and coal interests in West Virginia, have been indicted by a federal grand jury at Webster Springs for alleged election frauds in McDowell county, this state. London, Aug. 31.—A dispatch from Rome says that the Austrians are fleeing before the Rumanian avalanche, abandoning villages and passes.

HOPE TO MOVE FOOD TRAINS

New York Rail Officials Preparing for Strike.

New York, Aug. 31.—Railroad traffic, both to and from New York city, shows feverish activity in anticipation of a general strike. It is estimated that before Sept. 4, the date of the threatened tieup, this city will rid itself of a floating population of nearly 350,000 and receive home about the same number of residents who have been on vacation.

Unless the situation changes radically it is expected the other Eastern railroads will follow the example of the New York, New Haven and Hartford and declare a freight embargo to take effect Sept. 4.

Railroad executives here expressed hope that if a strike were called they could run enough food trains to keep the city from privation. The city's milk supply companies have been organizing to meet the situation ever since the strike became imminent.

ROUMANIANS GAIN IN TRANSYLVANIA

New Ally Battering at Gates of Chief City.

LITTLE ACTION BY OTHERS

Bulgaria to Receive Ultimatum from Rumania—Italy Declares War on Her New Enemy—Albanians to Help at Saloniki.

London, Aug. 31.—Rumania's invasion of Austro-Hungarian territory continued in the mountainous region from Petrozseny, on the railway north-east of Arsovo, to the Gyergo mountains, eighty miles north of Kronstadt.

On the Danube, from the Iron Gate to Biurgevo, opposite Rustchuk, Bulgaria, there have been reciprocal bombardments at several points by Austro-Hungarian war craft and Rumanian shore batteries. A Zeppelin and a hostile aeroplane have dropped bombs on the Rumanian capital.

Austria's acknowledgement of the retirement of her forces in the mountainous region to previously prepared positions in the rear has been followed by claims by Rumania that the troops of King Ferdinand have arrived at a point within three miles of Kronstadt, the chief commercial city of Transylvania.

Vienna admits that the Rumanians are engaged with the Austro-Hungarians in the Gyergo mountains which shows that on the northwestern front of Rumania hostile forces have invaded Transylvania some twenty-five miles. The Rumanians also are near Koodzi-Vasarhely, about forty miles northeast of Kronstadt.

Rumanian Ultimatum to Bulgaria.

While Bulgaria has not entered into hostilities against Rumania, a news agency dispatch says Rumania has decided to send an ultimatum to Bulgaria demanding the evacuation of Serbia.

A dispatch from Constantinople indicates that Turkey has declared war on Rumania.

In the Macedonian theater violent fighting continues between the entente allies and the Austro-Germans and Bulgarians. Paris claims that to the west of the Vardar river the French have gained additional ground and that in the Lake Ostrovo region, the Serbs have repulsed attacks by the Bulgarians.

On the Struma front, near Lake Doiran, batteries of the entente powers have violently shelled Bulgarian positions.

Drama in Northeast Greece, has been seized by the Bulgarians after a fight with Greek troops, according to unofficial advice received in Paris. An Albanian detachment under Essad Pasha, once commander of the Turkish first army, has arrived at Saloniki to aid the allies.

Except for an extension of the British lines south of Martinpuich on the Somme front in France, there has been little activity except by artillery on the part of any of the belligerents on the western battle line, where inclement weather still prevails.

On the front in Russia and Galicia as well there have been no important changes in positions, although in the Carpathian region, the Russians have captured Paniker mountain, on the Hungarian border, and the village of Rafalov, on the Bystritsa-Navorna river, near the border.

In the fighting between Turks and Russians in Asia Minor and on the Persian front both sides claim minor successes.

Seven Bells.

Everybody who knows anything about nautical matters understands the methods of keeping time at sea—eight bells every four hours. From 6 to 8 in the evening is the second dogwatch, but on British ships seven bells half past 7 of the second dogwatch are never struck. All other ships, even the American, strike these bells. During the Napoleonic wars there was a great mutiny in the British navy. The crews of the fleets lying at Spithead and the Nore agreed to rise simultaneously against their officers. The signal agreed upon was seven bells of the second dogwatch. The mutiny actually began at the arranged time, but failed, the ringleaders being executed. Ever since then seven bells of the second dogwatch has never been struck on British ships, naval or mercantile.

Matching to a Star.

Many people interpret the familiar phrase "Hitch your wagon to a star" as being an injunction to "aim high."
Emerson, who introduced this expression in his essay on civilization, meant no such thing. He says his imagination is greatly stirred by the waves. If an engine could be built which would accumulate all the power of the waves, since the tide makes the waves and the moon makes the tide, we could use this enormous power to run our manufactories and move our wagons. Thus we would "hitch our wagon to a star."
Professor John Erskine at Chautauqua.

Don't Be Envious.

Crush all envy out of your heart. The envious person is in pain upon all occasions which ought to give him pleasure. The selfish of his life is lost, and the objects which administer the highest satisfaction to those who are exempt from this passion give the quickest pangs to persons who are subject to it. All the perfections of their fellow creatures are odious. Don't be envious.

ROAD ASKS FOR PROTECTION

North Dakota Governor Requested to Furnish Police.

Bismarck, N. D., Aug. 31.—Governor Hanna has received a message from the Great Northern railway officials asking police protection in the state should the threatened strike materialize.

Because of the large number of I.
W. W. members in the state, engaged in harvesting, fear has been expressed that there may be trouble in some of the larger towns.

Governor Hanna will issue a form letter to all local police and sheriffs of the state directing them to safeguard the lives of passengers, and to protect the property of the railroads from demonstrations by strikers or their sympathizers.

If you bring a smile to the trembling lips of another you will soon discover that a smile is alighting on your own lips.

GEN. VON MACKENSEN.

Will Command Forces Operating Against Roumania.

Field Marshal von Mackensen, who led the successful Austro-German campaign through Serbia a year ago, will be in command of the German-Bulgarian armies operating against Roumania.

The German government is determined to push an aggressive campaign against Roumania, carrying the fighting to Roumanian soil at once.

The Misguided Friend.

De Chappie—If there's any one nusance I hate more than another it's a fellow who is always going around in troucing people. There's Goodheart, for instance. Bouttown—What's he been doing? De Chappie—The idiot!
The other day he introduced me to a man I owed money to, and I'd been owing it so long he'd forgotten all about me. Now I'll have to pay up or be sued.—London Telegraph.

Serene Sarcasm.

"You have completely upset my train of thought," exclaimed the frascible man.
"I shouldn't call anything so easily upset a train," commented his irritating wife. "It's more like a canoe."
—Washington Star.

Plant Species.

There are 4,200 species of plants used for commercial purposes. Of these 420 are used for perfumes.

FREE FROM BEETLES.

Spitzbergen Is the Only Land in the World Without Them.

One of the most amazing things in natural history is the way in which beetles have triumphed in the struggle for existence, says the Popular Science Monthly. Of all creatures they are by far the most numerous, no fewer than 150,000 distinct species having been identified—three times the number of backbone animals.

Beetles are found practically everywhere—in the frost bound tracts of Iceland and in the hot desert sands of Africa, on the highest mountains, under the ground and as fossil in the deepest strata, on land and in water, on plants, among stones and in wood and earth and even in the very craters of volcanoes.

But there is one place where no beetle has yet been found. It is the inhospitable land of Spitzbergen, to the north of Russia. Here are found the mammals, birds, fish, mollusks, crustaceans, a few insects of varied species and many spiders, but not a single beetle.

While other insects have succeeded in some way in migrating from the mainland, the beetles have apparently been unable to cross the wide, icy waters.

City Streets in Mexico.

There is an almost unbroken regularity in the laying out of the city streets in Mexico, but according to an old Spanish custom the name of the same street frequently changes from block to block.

Both Important.

"One of the most important things in life, my son," said the father, "is to know when to grasp an opportunity."
"And another," said the wise son,
"is to know when to let go of it, I suppose."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Good Example.

A common table sets some men a good example—it never crosses its legs.

North Dakota Governor Requested to Furnish Police.

Bismarck, N. D., Aug. 31.—Governor Hanna has received a message from the Great Northern railway officials asking police protection in the state should the threatened strike materialize.

Because of the large number of I. W. W. members in the state, engaged in harvesting, fear has been expressed that there may be trouble in some of the larger towns.

Governor Hanna will issue a form letter to all local police and sheriffs of the state directing them to safeguard the lives of passengers, and to protect the property of the railroads from demonstrations by strikers or their sympathizers.

If you bring a smile to the trembling lips of another you will soon discover that a smile is alighting on your own lips.

FREE FROM BEETLES.

Spitzbergen is the Only Land in the World Without Them.

One of the most amazing things in natural history is the way in which beetles have triumphed in the struggle for existence, says the Popular Science Monthly. Of all creatures they are by far the most numerous, no fewer than 400,000 distinct species having been identified—three times the number of backboneed animals.

Beetles are found practically everywhere—in the frost bound tracts of Iceland and in the hot desert sands of Africa, on the highest mountains, under the ground and as fossil in the deepest strata, on land and in water, on plants, among stones and in wood and earth and even in the very crevices of volcanoes.

But there is one place where no beetle has yet been found. It is the inhospitable land of Spitzbergen, to the north of Russia. Here are found the mammals, birds, fish, mollusks, crustaceans, a few insects of varied species and many spiders, but not a single beetle.

While other insects have succeeded in some way in migrating from the mainland, the beetles have apparently been unable to cross the wide, icy waters.

Services will be held at 10:30 and 7:30, the Bible school will meet at 11:45 and the Young Peoples meeting at 6:45.

The themes of the minister's sermons will be, morning worship, "What Jesus Christ Means to Me," evening worship "The Place and Power of Friendship."

The Sunbeam Circle of the Bethlehem Norwegian Lutheran church will meet Saturday afternoon at the church parlors. Mrs. Thorus J. Newgord will entertain. Visitors are welcome.

At the Best Tonight

"The No-Good Guy" is the feature at the Best theatre tonight.

William Collier's appearance in a five-reel Triangle-Ince comedy is made in "The No-Good Guy," which was written for him by C. Gardner Sullivan. It was devised to give Mr. Collier ample opportunities for his frolicsome abilities, and it has fully achieved its purpose. The hero is a youth whose large fortune is held in trust by an apparently respectable but really wicked uncle. The young man, halted in a career of made dissipation by a command to go to work or starve, opens a detective agency. Then come adventures—a regular storm of them, with Mr. Collier tumbling through to a triumphant finish, with the girl won and the uncle brought to his crooked knees.

Going to occultism of the Far East, the forthcoming Bluebird Photoplay, "The Love Girl," to be exhibited at the Best theatre tomorrow will bring clever amusement to devotees of high-class motion pictures. Ella Hall plays the role of the "girl" and she has so many times proven her ability in previous service to the screen that there is assurance that her latest endeavor will gratify her legion of admirers. Adele Farrington, Betty Schade, Kingsley Benedict, Harry Depp and Grace Marvin, as members of Miss Hall's supporting company, have been provided with roles that engage their best talents, and Robert Z. Leonard has produced from his own scenario a picture that combines every element of human interest that combine to make photoplays by far the most popular form of entertainment in present vogue.

GOING TO HER CLUB.

For all dressy functions or street wear is this handsome costume of chocolate brown satin, cut with a three-quarter length coat and full skirt. Triangular pockets, richly picked out with metal embroideries and a soldierly cape bordered with narrow seal are also interesting motifs.

Freight consigned to outside points however, was accumulating at the terminals. There was little change in the volume of incoming freight nor had the situation as yet furnished any stimulus to passenger traffic.

Produce dealers and wholesalers admitted that they are laying in heavy food supplies. Enormous orders have been placed for staple food shipments by lake steamers from Chicago.

Milwaukee's interurban system which taps a productive milk and produce region would prove a partial solution to the food problem here, at least during the early days of the strike, it was pointed out.

St. Paul Federal Loan Bank

St. Paul, Aug. 31—Bankers co-operating with St. Paul business men and trying to get a federal rural loan bank located here was the unusual condition that greeted Secretary McAdoo and the federal loan bank directors, when they met here today. This situation is unusual. Generally the bankers knock the federal loan bank, which, they usually say, hurts their business. The hearing of the board here was attended with much harmony however.

Watching Threatened Strike

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 31—Western Canada today closely watched developments of the threatened railway strike in the United States. Such a calamity would practically tie up the Canadian Pacific and would effect the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk lines. The loss of traffic secured at the border would be heavy. The actual operation of trains would perhaps not be affected, because there are no train crews taking trains across the international line on any road. Division points are on the international line.

Storm Devastates Canadian Crops

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 31—Thousands of acres of wheat were ruined, one girl killed, 22 persons were injured, barns and houses were unroofed and hundred of thousands of dollars damage done, it was revealed when communication was restored today.

Melville, Esterhazy, Tantallon in Saskatchewan and Hargraves, Plum and Binscarth in Manitoba were worst hit. In western Manitoba cars were blown off the tracks, wire poles were uprooted and hundreds of windows broken.

At Danna, Sask., a school was demolished. The teacher and 21 pupils were buried in the debris. One girl died from the injuries. Bromhead, Sask., is reported to have caught afire during the storm, and been wiped out. Communication has not yet been restored there.

Canadian Cattle South St. Paul South St. Paul, Aug. 31—A new situation was thought today to have been developed in the northwest cattle market, by the arrival here of 116 carloads of Canadian cattle within a week.

If prices were lower, it is reported more Canadian stock would be brought here. The introduction of common cattle into the northwest situation is quite novel.

A Parting Dinner

By ALAN HINSDALE

"Our marriage," said the wife, "has been a mistake. The sooner a mistake is rectified the better. I am going to leave you."

"That's not a bad idea," said the husband. "A bit of freedom from this new life that neither of us has yet become used to will give us a breathing spell, and if we come together again we will appreciate each other all the more for it."

"That 'if' is well put in."

"And if we don't come together again just think of the fun we'll have!"

"Fun?"

"Yes. I can remain out at a poker party till 3 o'clock in the morning if I like, smoke and drink to my heart's content, spend no end of time sitting on a stool before a glove counter with a pretty girl on the other side smoothing down my fingers with her soft hand!"

"If these things are so delightful to you why did you marry?"

"I haven't come to your own enjoyments consequent on the break yet. You can sit all day beside your mother, holding her hand and listening to her advice to you how to manage a husband. Won't that be just too nice for anything?"

"If you loved me one-tenth as well as mamma does there would be no need of a separation."

"Oh, I could never compete with a mother's love! That is not to be expected. I suppose that's what gives her a right to tell you just what course to take respecting your husband. Now that you're going to leave me, her advice with respect to me will be no longer necessary, and I wonder what you and she will talk about when you nestle down for a morning chin-chin."

She was inclined to think that, the one interesting topic being removed, the chin-chin would be rather dull, but she did not say so.

"There's one thing I propose to do," continued the provoking husband. "As soon as you are gone I'm going to take down these curtains. I have endured them simply for your sake. They shut out the light."

"Indeed, you will do no such thing!"

"Why so? It will not matter to you whether there are curtains here or not. I shall make a smoking room of this, and you have always declared that when smoke gets into curtains it's hard to get it out."

"A smoking room of this cozy apartment! Why, I arranged everything here myself!"

"So you did, and a delightful room you made of it. I remember when I first saw it I thought how many delightful scenes we would have here. I little thought that a few short months would end it all."

"Whose fault is it?"

"Mine."

"Why don't you do better?"

"I can't. I'm naturally wicked. If I were not you wouldn't need to leave me."

"Of course I don't want to leave you, but you can't expect me to endure such treatment forever."

"Certainly not. I deserve it all. But it's sad to think of my having to dismantle this pretty room for a lot of fellows who will throw cigar and pipe ashes all over the carpet and—"

"They will do no such thing! If you're going to have those horrid men here I—I won't!"

"Won't go?"

"Yes, I'm going. I have come to that decision after long and careful deliberation."

"And consultation with your mother?"

"This was a home thrust."

"If there is any one who knows what is best for the child she has cared for and loved from babyhood it is surely her mother."

"I agree with you. Therefore the daughter should never leave her mother."

"The daughter is not expected to marry a—a—"

"Brute! But we are wasting time. When do you go?"

"Are you in haste to be rid of me?"

"Not at all. I merely wish to make arrangements for your departure. Will you permit me to see you to your mother's house?"

"Who said I was going to mamma?"

"Very well. I will take you wherever you wish to go."

"You'll have to dine elsewhere today. I have made no preparations for dinner here."

"Suppose we have a last dinner at Skinner's, with a bottle of that wine you like so well?"

She hesitated, and he suggested that she telephone her mother that she would not arrive till after dinner. This last reference to her mother, though highly respectful, called a frown to the wife's brow. Nevertheless she went to the phone and sent the message. Then she dressed for the dinner and came downstairs looking very ingenuous.

"Have you sent your baggage?" he asked mildly.

"No," she snapped.

They dined with handsomely dressed ladies and gentlemen to detract their attention from their troubles, and music soothed them, and the wine warmed them. The dinner was excellent, and they spent an enjoyable evening together. When they drove away he made no mention of the fact that she had expected to go to her mother, but asked the driver to take them to her own home.

And that was the end of the fracas.

His One Regret.

"There's no use trying to deny it," remarked Mrs. DeFlatt, "this is the worst cook we've had yet. There positively isn't a decent thing to eat on the table."

"Pity we can't eat the washing," sighed the hungry husband.—Chicago News.

What Is Uric Acid?

THE CAUSE OF BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM, GRAVEL AND SUDDEN DEATH.

Ever since the discovery of uric acid in the blood by Scheele, in 1775, and the bad effect it had upon the body, scientists and physicians have striven to rid the tissues and the blood of this poison. Because of its overabundance in the system it causes backache, pains here and there, rheumatism, gout, gravel, neuralgia and sciatica. It was Dr. Pierce who discovered a new agent, called "Anurie," which will throw out and completely eradicate this uric acid from the system. "Anurie" has proved to be 37 times more potent than lithia, and consequently you need no longer fear muscular or articular rheumatism or gout, or many other diseases which are dependent on an accumulation of uric acid within the body. Send to Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., for a pamphlet on "Anurie," or send 10 cents for a trial package of "Anurie Tablets."

If you feel that tired, worn-out feeling, backache, neuralgia, or if your sleep is disturbed by too frequent urination, go to your best drug store and ask for Doctor Pierce's Anurie Tablets.

Doctor Pierce's reputation is back of this medicine and you know that his "Golden Medical Discovery" for the blood and his "Favorite Prescription" for the ill of women have had a splendid reputation for the past fifty years.

A Parting Dinner

By ALAN HINSDALE

"Our marriage," said the wife, "has been a mistake. The sooner a mistake is rectified the better. I am going to leave you."

"That's not a bad idea," said the husband. "A bit of freedom from this new life that neither of us has yet become used to will give us a breathing spell, and if we come together again we will appreciate each other all the more for it."

"That 'if' is well put in."

"And if we don't come together again just think of the fun we'll have!"

"Fun?"

"Yes. I can remain out at a poker party till 3 o'clock in the morning if I like, smoke and drink to my heart's content, spend no end of time sitting on a stool before a glove counter with a pretty girl on the other side smoothing down my fingers with her soft hand!"

"If these things are so delightful to you why did you marry?"

"I haven't come to your own enjoyments consequent on the break yet. You can sit all day beside your mother, holding her hand and listening to her advice to you how to manage a husband. Won't that be just too nice for anything?"

"Oh, I could never compete with a mother's love! That is not to be expected. I suppose that's what gives her a right to tell you just what course to take respecting your husband. Now that you're going to leave me, her advice with respect to me will be no longer necessary, and I wonder what you and she will talk about when you nestle down for a morning chin-chin."

She was inclined to think that, the one interesting topic being removed, the chin-chin would be rather dull, but she did not say so.

"There's one thing I propose to do," continued the provoking husband. "As soon as you are gone I'm going to take down these curtains. I have endured them simply for your sake. They shut out the light."

"Indeed, you will do no such thing!"

"Why so? It will not matter to you whether there are curtains here or not. I shall make a smoking room of this, and you have always declared that when smoke gets into curtains it's hard to get it out."

"A smoking room of this cozy apartment! Why, I arranged everything here myself!"

"So you did, and a delightful room you made of it. I remember when I first saw it I thought how many delightful scenes we would have here. I little thought that a few short months would end it all."

"Whose fault is it?"

"Mine."

"Why don't you do better?"

"I can't. I'm naturally wicked. If I were not you wouldn't need to leave me."

"Of course I don't want to leave you, but you can't expect me to endure such treatment forever."

"Certainly not. I deserve it all. But it's sad to think of my having to dismantle this pretty room for a lot of fellows who will throw cigar and pipe ashes all over the carpet and—"

"They will do no such thing! If you're going to have those horrid men here I—won't!"

"Won't go?"

"Yes, I'm going. I have come to that decision after long and careful deliberation."

"And consultation with your mother?"

"This was a home thrust."

"If there is any one who knows what is best for the child she has cared for and loved from babyhood it is surely her mother."

"I agree with you. Therefore the daughter should never leave her mother."

"The daughter is not expected to marry a—a—"

"Brute! But we are wasting time. When do you go?"

"Are you in haste to be rid of me?"

"Not at all. I merely wish to make arrangements for your departure. Will you permit me to see you to your mother's house?"

"Who said I was going to mamma?"

"Very well. I will take you wherever you wish to go."

"You'll have to dine elsewhere today. I have made no preparations for dinner here."

"Suppose we have a last dinner at Elsters, with a bottle of that wine you like so well?"

She hesitated, and he suggested that she telephone her mother that she would not arrive till after dinner. This last reference to her mother, though highly respectful, called a frown to the wife's brow. Nevertheless she went to the phone and sent the message. Then she dressed for the dinner and came downstairs looking very lugubrious.

"Have you sent your baggage?" he asked mildly.

"No!" she snapped.

They dined with handsomely dressed adies and gentlemen to detract their attention from their troubles, and mused each other, and the wine warmed them. The dinner was excellent, and they spent an enjoyable evening together. When they drove away he made no mention of the fact that she had expected to go to her mother, but he asked the driver to take them to her own home.

And that was the end of the fracas.

"There's no use trying to deny it," remarked Mrs. DeFlatt, "this is the worst cook we've had yet. There positively isn't a decent thing to eat on the table."

"That's right," rejoined DeFlatt. "But," continued his wife, "there's one thing in her favor. She can't be beat when it comes to washing."

"Why we can't eat the washing," sighed the hungry husband.—Chicago News.

What Is Uric Acid?

THE CAUSE OF BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM, GRAVEL
AND SUDDEN DEATH.

Ever since the discovery of uric acid in the blood by Scheele, in 1775, and the bad effect it had upon the body, scientists and physicians have striven to rid the tissues and the blood of this poison. Because of its overabundance in the system it causes backache, pains here and there, rheumatism, gout, gravel, neuralgia and sciatica. It was Dr. Pierce who discovered a new agent, called "Anuric," which will throw out and completely eradicate this uric acid from the system. "Anuric" has proved to be 37 times more potent than lithia, and consequently you need no longer fear muscular or articular rheumatism or gout, or many other diseases which are dependent on an accumulation of uric acid within the body. Send to Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., for a pamphlet on "Anuric," or send 10 cents for a trial package of "Anuric Tablets."

If you feel that tired, worn-out feeling, backache, neuralgia, or if your sleep is disturbed by too frequent urination, go to your best drug store and ask for Doctor Pierce's Anuric Tablets.

Doctor Pierce's reputation is back of this medicine and you know that his "Golden Medical Discovery" for the blood and his "Favorite Prescription" for the liver of women have had a splendid reputation for the past fifty years.

Doctor Pierce's Pellets are unequaled as a Liver Pill. One tiny Sugar-coated Pellet a Day. Cure Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Bile, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels.

ADEQUATE NATIONAL DEFENSE DEMANDED

We demand adequate national defense; adequate protection on both our Western and Eastern coasts. We demand thoroughness and efficiency in both arms of the service. It seems to be plain that our regular army is too small. We are too great a country to require of our citizens who are engaged in peaceful vocations the sort of military service to which they are now called. As well insist that our citizens in this metropolis be summoned to put out fires and police the streets. We do not count it inconsistent with our liberties, or with our democratic ideals, to have an adequate police force. With a population of nearly one hundred millions we need to be sorer of ourselves than to become alarmed at the prospect of having a regular army which can reasonably protect our border, and perform such other military service as may be required. In the absence of a grave emergency, I believe, further, that there should be not only a reasonable increase in the regular army, but that the first citizen reserve subject to call should be enlisted as a Federal army and trained under Federal authority. — From Mr. Hughes' speech of acceptance.

Protective Tariff To Insure Against Commercial Invasion

Indianapolis, Aug. 31.—Declaring for a protective tariff that would insure against a "commercial invasion which would paralyze American industry and blight our happiness" and condemning the "vacillating" policy of the Wilson administration as regards Mexico, Charles Warren Fairbanks this afternoon accepted the nomination as the candidate of the republican party for vice president.

Fairbanks came out with a flat-footed statement that President Wilson should have recognized General Huerta as president of Mexico.

"It was our manifest duty to have recognized Huerta as the president, either de facto or de jure," said Fairbanks. "He was clearly in power under the forms of Mexican law and was entitled to recognition by diplomatic precedent. He was a powerful soldier and the one man above all others in his country who was capable of establishing order."

The notification ceremonies were held on the lawn of the Fairbank's home, beginning at 2:30 P. M. Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman of Illinois, delivered the notification speech. W. R. Wilcox, republican national chairman, A. T. Hart, western campaign manager, and Frank R. Hitchcock, were present.

Fairbank's tariff statement occupied nearly half of his brief address. His Mexican statement next in length, was divided into his declaration regarding Huerta and an explanation of the importance of the Mexican issue to the United States. Mr. Fairbanks discussed the merchant marine, administrative economy, diplomatic prestige, the country's state of peace, "Americanism" and preparedness. His tariff statement did not include mention of a tariff commission.

Mr. Fairbanks drew a graphic picture of the conditions in this country as he saw them immediately following the passage of the Underwood tariff.

"The present free trade, or tariff for revenue law, which democracy regards with such high favor, has worked infinite damage," he said. "This law, which is to be maintained if democracy triumphs, must stand or fall not by what democratic conventions say of it, but by what it has said of itself under normal trade conditions. Even before it was approved by Mr. Wilson, who took pride in the executive act, business began to feel its effects. The coming storm was apparent and prudence took possession of our people. The certainty of the law spread fear among us. Our competitors in Europe and in the Orient were filled with joy. Commercial travelers from England, France and Germany and elsewhere were out upon the road in the United States and promptly began writing orders. The slowing down process began with a wrench."

"The working men, who were the first to feel the blighting effects of the reversal of our great economic policy, began to lose their jobs; factories were closed; trains were taken off our railway schedules; thousands of idle cars accumulated upon the sidetracks; mines were closed; the workers in our charities received increasing appeals from the unfortunate victims of the free trade policy. That democracy was again in power was made evident throughout the republic."

"Hope was fast dying out," said Fairbanks, "when all Christendom was checked by the European war. Demands from the belligerent nations were made upon us for urgent military requirements. Prosperity returned to us in many quarters—not because of democracy, but in spite of it. It is the prosperity of war, based upon the misfortunes of others."

"There is no observer," said Fairbanks, "who does not know that when the war ceases and the contest is transferred from trenches to the factories, an unprecedented war of markets will be on. Our standard of wages and living will be matched against the lower wage on living standards of other countries more sharply than ever in our past history."

Fairbanks then said that a republican protective tariff will be the safeguard against this competition for our industries and labor.

The merchant marine, said Fairbanks, should be rebuilt. He called this "one imperative and urgent need of the times." He called a merchant vessel a "good commercial traveler" which will "search out business in all harbors for the country whose flag it beats."

"We are opposed to a government-owned or government-operated merchant marine," he said. "Such a merchant marine is violative of sound governmental policy; it will prove expensive and serve to check individual enterprises." Fairbanks favored instead laws that would cause private capital to construct all the merchant vessels required.

The candidate said that though the Democrats have repeatedly pledged themselves to economy, they have, when in power, "been extravagant and reckless."

He said that for nearly four years we have "walked in darkness and doubt have felt the humiliation of lost prestige of the chancelleries of the world. He declared his belief "unqualifiedly in the maintenance of a firm foreign policy," based on justice to all.

Regarding the claim of the democrats that President Wilson has kept the country at peace, he said the claim was too broad for there has been real war in Mexico, due to our own aggression. "He said there was no desire upon the part of any power either in Europe or in the Orient to go to war with us."

"It is not a very difficult task for any president to keep out of war regarding Americanism. He said the European war will tend to intensify the spirit of nationalism and that there never was a time when it was more important for us, as Americans, to avoid creating lines of cleavage in this country based upon place of birth." He said Americans of foreign birth cannot properly be censured for sympathy with nations which once claimed their allegiance, as against the nations which they are fighting, and he condemned "the attempt to impute treasonable motives to any one class of our citizens because of their original nationality, so long as their sympathies do not interfere with their paramount loyalty to this republic."

"We stand for preparedness measured by our national needs—a strong army and navy adequate to compel respect for our diplomacy and to insure peace," said Fairbanks at the close of his address. He pledged his loyalty to Charles Evan Hughes and said that his election as president would insure "a new era of honor and prestige abroad and prosperity and contentment at home."

Hard Life on Old Ships.

Naval men of today need not envy their predecessors of the middle of the eighteenth century when they think of the large prize money earned, for instance, by the capture of the Hermione. There were terrible odds to be set on the other side of the gamble. In seven years of that war, which ended in 1763, the number of seamen and marines who served was 181,893. Only 1,512 were killed in action or by accident, but as many as 133,708 died of disease or were reported missing. Why both disease and desertion were rare nobody needs to inquire who has read Smollett's ghastly descriptions of naval life in those days.—London Mail.

ONE LONE ISSUE DIVIDES PARTIES

The Tariff Always a Fertile Source of Partisan Debate.

MEXICO IN SECOND PLACE.

Opposition That Has Developed in Denmark Will Delay Purchase of West India Islands—Revenue Bill Likely to Cause Dissatisfaction When Taxes for Preparedness Are Imposed.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 31.—[Special.]—There is one unfailing divisional line between the parties—the tariff. There is never any difficulty about a debate on this subject when it comes before congress, and, although thirty-nine Republicans in the house voted for the revenue bill, the opposition to that measure in the senate by Republicans shows that the minority party is yet alive to one issue which can make for a division between the parties.

In reality there is not so very much difference between the parties, even on the tariff, but a better sham battle can be staged on the tariff than on anything else. Even Mexico is less of a partisan question, for it has been found upon referring to the records that the Taft administration conducted Mexican affairs pretty much as the Wilson administration has done since assuming control.

Island Purchase May Go Over.

The purchase of the Danish West Indies might have been made a party issue because the treaty was negotiated by a Democratic administration, but it appears that parties are divided on that question. Several Democrats in the senate are inclined to oppose the treaty, while a number of leading Republicans favor it.

Owing to the opposition which has developed in Denmark and the desire of the senators to get away from Washington, it is probable that the action on the treaty will be deferred until after the election. At that time there will be no need of making it a partisan question.

"Paying the Piper."

Listening to the talk on the revenue bill proves that it is always more difficult to "pay the piper" than to dance to his music. The American people have indulged in such a stupendous amount of preparedness—perhaps they have enjoyed it—and now it must be paid for by taxation. The people will not like it, particularly if they can figure out the amount they pay, but that is not possible for so much of this taxation is indirect. At the same time the figures look pretty big when it is shown that appropriations are larger than during any year in our history, even during the civil war, when extraordinary expenses were met.

Marshall's Intentional Slip.

During the recent row among the Democrats in the open senate there had been much talk of what took place in the caucus and of caucus procedure. Finally there was a lull and Vice President Marshall remarked:

"The question before the caucus is the—"

But he got no further. The senate and galleries broke into a roar of laughter at this intentional slip on the part of the senate's presiding officer.

Adverbially True.

During a discussion of the Philippine bill when Williams of Mississippi was advocating independence, McLean of Connecticut asked:

"In a certain sense," replied John Sharp, "that is true—unforgivably true, unpardonably true and pathetically true."

A Hoosier Term.

A matter of expense was being discussed in connection with a bill in the senate, and Kern of Indiana said he did not think it well for men to stop and higgledy about an appropriation of $12,000.

"Does the senator refer to me as higgledy?" asked Cummins of Iowa, with some seriousness.

"I was perhaps unfortunate in the use of the word 'higgledy,'" was Kern's response. "I was employing an old Hoosier term that came into my mind at the moment."

"Subside" in the Senate.

Senator Hughes of New Jersey desired to make a statement and was interrupted several times by Smoot of Utah.

"Will the senator subside and keep quiet?" finally asked Hughes, with some show of annoyance. And then he went on and made his speech.

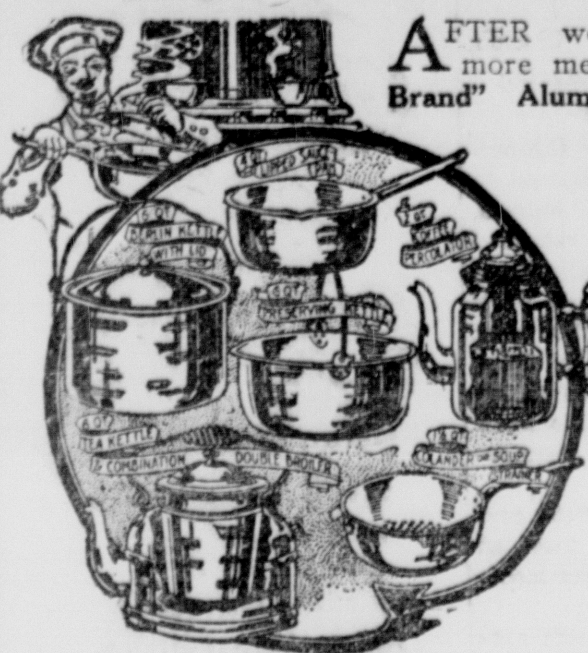

"Now that the senator from New Jersey has subsided," remarked Smoot at the conclusion of Hughes' statement, and he had his say.

Cost of the Canal.

"When we started it was estimated that the Panama canal would cost $225,000,000," Senator Sherman of Illinois told the senate. "We have already expended more than $907,000,000 on it and it is not completed yet."

He went on to argue that several undertakings by the present congress would prove far more expensive than the present estimates.

Stories of the Gravediggers.

Grimly humorous is the tale of the Scottish gravedigger who complained that he did not get constant work. "But, George," said the minister, "if you were to be constantly employed in the duties of the office you would soon bury the whole parish."

"That might be, sir, but how am I to keep a wife and family unless I get regular work?" "Deed, sir, I have buried a leavin' soul for the last six weeks."

Harder still was the case of another gravedigger who was asked to reduce his fee for digging a grave because, "mind ye, James, she was an auld woman and was sair spent."

Protective Tariff To Insure Against Commercial Invasion

Indianapolis, Aug. 31.—Declaring for a protective tariff that would insure against a "commercial invasion" which would paralyze American industry and blight our happiness, and condemning the "vacillating" policy of the Wilson administration as regards Mexico, Charles Warren Fairbanks this afternoon accepted the nomination as the candidate of the republican party for vice president.

Fairbanks came out with a flat-footed statement that President Wilson should have recognized General Huerta as president of Mexico.

"It was our manifest duty to have recognized Huerta as the president, either de facto or de jure," said Fairbanks. "He was clearly in power under the forms of Mexican law and was entitled to recognition by diplomatic precedent. He was a powerful soldier and the one man above all others in his country who was capable of establishing order."

The notification ceremonies were held on the lawn of the Fairbanks home, beginning at 3:30 P. M. Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman of Illinois, delivered the notification speech. W. R. Wilcox, republican national chairman, A. T. Hart, western campaign manager, and Frank R. Hitchcock, were present.

Fairbanks' tariff statement occupied nearly half of his brief address. His Mexican statement next in length, was divided into his declaration regarding Huerta and an explanation of the importance of the Mexican issue to the United States. Mr. Fairbanks discussed the merchant marine, administrative economy, diplomatic prestige, the country's state of peace, "Americanism" and preparedness. His tariff statement did not include mention of a tariff commission.

Mr. Fairbanks drew a graphic picture of the conditions in this country as he saw them immediately following the passage of the Underwood tariff.

"The present free trade, or tariff for revenue law, which democracy regards with such high favor, has worked infinite damage," he said. "This law, which is to be maintained if democracy triumphs, must stand or fall not by what democratic conventions say of it, but by what it has said of itself under normal trade conditions. Even before it was approved by Mr. Wilson, who took pride in the executive act, business began to feel its effects. The coming storm was apparent and prudence took possession of our people. The certainty of the law spread fear among us. Our competitors in Europe and in the Orient were filled with joy. Commercial travelers from England, France and Germany and elsewhere were out upon the road in the United States and promptly began writing orders. The glowing down process began with a wrench."

"The working men, who were the first to feel the blighting effects of the reversal of our great economic policy, began to lose their jobs; factories were closed; trains were taken off our railway schedules; thousands of idle cars accumulated upon the sidetracks; mines were closed; the workers in our charities received increasing appeals from the unfortunate victims of the free trade policy. That democracy was again in power was made evident throughout the republic."

"Hope was fast dying out," said Fairbanks, "when all Christendom was checked by the European war. Demands from the belligerent nations were made upon us for urgent military requirements. Prosperity returned to us in many quarters—not because of democracy, but in spite of it. It is the prosperity of war, based upon the misfortunes of others."

"There is no observer," said Fairbanks, "who does not know that when the war ceases and the contest is transferred from trenches to the factories, an unprecedented war of markets will be on. Our standard of wages and living will be matched against the lower wage on living standards of other countries more sharply than ever in our past history."

Fairbanks then said that a republican protective tariff will be the safeguard against this competition for our industries and labor.

The merchant marine, said Fairbanks, should be rebuilt. He called this "one imperative and urgent need of the times." He called a merchant vessel a "good commercial traveler" which will "search out business in all harbors for the country whose flag it bears."

"We are opposed to a government-owned or government-operated merchant marine," he said. "Such a

ST. PAUL BOY IN THE RUNNING.

A ST. PAUL BOY is a possible winner of the big 75-mile continuation race, which is to be held as a feature of the auto races at the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 and 9. Fred Horey, formerly of St. Paul, has driven so well in the last two years that he has achieved an international reputation for his ability. He will also take part in a special match race against another Northwest driver, unnamed as yet, for the championship of the Northwest. It will be one of the hottest races at the fair.

merchant marine is violative of sound governmental policy; it will prove expensive and serve to check individual enterprises." Fairbanks favored instead laws that would cause private capital to construct all the merchant vessels required.

The candidate said that though the Democrats have repeatedly pledged themselves to economy, they have, when in power, "been extravagant and reckless."

He said that for nearly four years we have "walked in darkness and doubt have felt the humiliation of lost prestige of the chancelleries of the world. He declared his belief "unqualifiedly in the maintenance of a firm foreign policy," based on justice to all.

Regarding the claim of the democrats that President Wilson has kept the country at peace, he said the claim was too broad for there has been real war in Mexico, due to our own aggression. "He said there was no desire upon the part of any power either in Europe or in the Orient to go to war with us."

"It is not a very difficult task for any president to keep out of war regarding Americanism. He said the European war will tend to intensify the spirit of nationalism and that there never was a time when it was more important for us, as Americans, to avoid creating lines of cleavage in this country based upon place of birth."

He said Americans of foreign birth cannot properly be censured for sympathy with nations which once claimed their allegiance, as against the nations which they are fighting, and he condemned the attempt to impute treasonable motives to any one class of our citizens because of their original nationality, so long as their sympathies do not interfere with their paramount loyalty to this republic."

"We stand for preparedness measured by our national needs—a strong army and navy adequate to compel respect for our diplomacy and to insure peace," said Fairbanks at the close of his address. He pledged his loyalty to Charles Evan Hughes and said that his election as president would insure "a new era of honor and prestige abroad and prosperity and contentment at home."

Hard Life on Old Ships.

Naval men of today need not envy their predecessors of the middle of the eighteenth century when they think of the large prize money earned, for instance, by the capture of the Hermione. There were terrible odds to be set on the other side of the gamble. In seven years of that war, which ended in 1763, the number of seamen and marines who served was 184,893. Only 1,512 were killed in action or by accident, but as many as 123,763 died of disease or were reported missing. Why both disease and desertion were rife nobody needs to inquire who has read Smollett's ghastly descriptions of naval life in those days.—London Mail.

A propensity to hope and joy is real riches, one to fear and sorrow real poverty.—Hume.

ONE LONE ISSUE DIVIDES PARTIES

The Tariff Always a Fertile Source of Partisan Debate.

MEXICO IN SECOND PLACE.

Opposition That Has Developed in Denmark Will Delay Purchase of West India Islands—Revenue Bill Likely to Cause Dissatisfaction When Taxes For Preparedness Are Imposed.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 31.—[Special.]—There is one unflinching divisional line between the parties—the tariff. There is never any difficulty about a debate on this subject when it comes before congress, and, although thirty-nine Republicans in the house voted for the revenue bill, the opposition to that measure in the senate by Republicans shows that the minority party is yet alive to one issue which can make for a division between the parties.

In reality there is not so very much difference between the parties, even on the tariff, but a better sham battle can be staged on the tariff than on anything else. Even Mexico is less of a partisan question, for it has been found upon referring to the records that the Taft administration conducted Mexican affairs pretty much as the Wilson administration has done since assuming control.

Island Purchase May Go Over.

The purchase of the Danish West Indies might have been made a party issue because the treaty was negotiated by a Democratic administration, but it appears that parties are divided on that question. Several Democrats in the senate are inclined to oppose the treaty, while a number of leading Republicans favor it.

Owing to the opposition which has developed in Denmark and the desire of the senators to get away from Washington, it is probable that the action on the treaty will be deferred until after the election. At that time there will be no need of making it a partisan question.

"Paying the Piper."

Listening to the talk on the revenue bill proves that it is always more difficult to "pay the piper" than to dance to his music. The American people have indulged in such a stupendous amount of preparedness—perhaps they have enjoyed it—and now it must be paid for by taxation. The people will not like it, particularly if they can figure out the amount they pay, but that is not possible for so much of this taxation is indirect. At the same time the figures look pretty big when it is shown that appropriations are larger than during any year in our history, even during the civil war, when extraordinary expenses were met.

Marshall's Intentional Slip.

During the recent row among the Democrats in the open senate there had been much talk of what took place in the caucus and of caucus procedure. Finally there was a lull and Vice President Marshall remarked:

"The question before the caucus is the—"

But he got no further. The senate and galleries broke into a roar of laughter at this intentional slip on the part of the senate's presiding officer.

Adverbially True.

During a discussion of the Philippine bill when Williams of Mississippi was advocating independence, McLean of Connecticut asked:

"In a certain sense," replied John Sharp, "that is true—unforgivably true, unparadoxically true and pathetically true."

A Hoosier Term.

A matter of expense was being discussed in connection with a bill in the senate, and Kern of Indiana said he did not think it well for men to stop and bicker about an appropriation of $12,000.

"Does the senator refer to me as bickering?" asked Cummins of Iowa, with some seriousness.

"I was perhaps unfortunate in the use of the word 'bickering,'" was Kern's response. "I was employing an old Hoosier term that came into my mind at the moment."

"Subside" in the Senate.

Senator Hughes of New Jersey desired to make a statement and was interrupted several times by Smoot of Utah.

"Will the senator subside and keep quiet?" finally asked Hughes, with some show of annoyance. And then he went on and made his speech.

"Now that the senator has subsided," remarked Smoot at the conclusion of Hughes' statement, and he had his say.

Cost of the Canal.

"When we started it was estimated that the Panama canal would cost $225,000,000," Senator Sherman of Illinois told the senate. "We have already expended more than $407,000,000 on it and it is not completed yet."

He went on to argue that several undertakings by the present congress would prove far more expensive than the present estimates.

Stories of the Gravediggers.

Grimly humorous is the tale of the Scottish gravedigger who complained that he did not get constant work.

"But, George," said the minister, "if you were to be constantly employed in the duties of the office you would soon bury the whole parish."

"That might be, sir, but how am I to keep a wife and family unless I get regular work?" "Deed, sir, I havena buried a leevin' soul for the last six weeks."

(Deerwood Times)
That is the way some of the citi-

Everybody wants a new Ford and none to be had until the first of September so Mr. Alberts of the local agency tells us. Last Wednesday night he was called out of bed twice by someone who wanted a Ford and Thursday he had no less than six calls. What's the matter they say, can't Mr. Ford make the wagons fast enough?

Finally to satisfy some of his regular customers he patched up a few old ones he had laying around and sold them and then he took the delivery wagon and converted that into a 1917 model Ford.

Recently he made a deal for an old Regal car and this, he is now trying to make over into a Ford and several parties are waiting for the transformation to take place.

Should Sloan's Liniment Go Along?

Of course it should! For after a strenuous day when your muscles have been exercised to the limit an application of Sloan's Liniment will take the soreness and stiffness away and get you in fine shape for the morrow. You should also use it for a sudden attack of toothache, stiff neck, backache, stings, bites and the many accidents that are incidental to a vacation. "We would as soon leave our baggage as go on a vacation or camp out without Sloan's Liniment." Writes one vacationist:
"We use it for everything from cramps to toothache." Put a bottle in your bag, be prepared and have no regrets. At all druggists. tta

EVEN BOB DUNN WAS HAPPY

Map Has Been Filed Showing Route, Roads Already Built, Possible
Connecting Links, Etc.

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

The champions of the Minnesota
Scenic Highway went home happy last night after their interview with the State Highway commission.

Even Bob Dun of Princeton, was happy, because he had assurance the highway connecting the Twin Cities and Duluth will receive early attention.

Senators P. H. McGarry of Walker
L. H. Nord of International Falls, and J. H. Baldwin of Frazee, with J.
S. Scribner of Walker, Ed Marshall of Cass Lake and others spoke for the scenic highway.

Representatives of the Scenic Highway association filed a map showing the route of the proposed highway, the roads already built or building that will form the parts extending through the several counties and the connecting links desired, and then asked the commission to take this scheme into account in supervising the contracts under the state road law. The commissioners promised to do this.

The route of the proposed highway is north from St. Paul to Elk River, then through Princeton, Milaca,
Brainerd, Walker, Cass Lake, Black
Duck, International Falls, Spooner, Warroad, Warren, Crookston, Moorhead, Detroit, Perham, Henning, Alexandria, Sauk Center, St. Cloud and back to Elk River.

* BRAINERD'S OLDEST STORIES TODAY *

This is the tale of a beggar who said he came from Wadena and was soliciting 25c from each business man to get home. He saw John F. Woodhead and the latter sent him to R. B. Withington. "You got to get a card from Withington before you can do any soliciting here," said Woodhead.

The beggar saw Mr. Withington, told a pitiful tale, and R.
B., bound to see it through to a finish, telephoned a Wadena bank and the latter said the old fellow was a fraud.

From the bank the beggar went to W. H. Cleary and told him a sorrowful story of trying to collect enough to get home to Wadena. Bill is always generous and open hearted and he gave him $2. At noon Cleary went to the train to see the old fellow off, but he wasn't riding that day.

Then W. H. saw Mr. Withington, and later meeting the recipient of the $2, Mr. Cleary hopped in and told the latter what he thought of him and the old fellow said: "Here's your two spot back," which all shows that some beggars find Brainerd easy pickings until their antecedents are looked up.

MY KINGDOM FOR A FORD

Strenuous Efforts of L. J. Alberts

Fords for Customers

(Deerwood Times)

That is the way some of the citizens of the range must be feeling. Everybody wants a new Ford and none to be had until the first of September so Mr. Alberts of the local agency tells us. Last Wednesday night he was called out of bed twice by someone who wanted a Ford and Thursday he had no less than six calls. What's the matter they say, can't Mr. Ford make the wagons fast enough?

Finally to satisfy some of his regular customers he patched up a few old ones he had laying around and sold them and then he took the delivery wagon and converted that into a 1917 model Ford.

Recently he made a deal for an old Regal car and this, he is now trying to make over into a Ford and several parties are waiting for the transformation to take place.

MOB TORTURES OHIO SHERIFF

Official, With Noose About Neck, Yields to Crowd.

LEADS WAY TO FIND NEGRO

Five Thousand Residents of Lima Neighborhood in Wild Hunt for Assassin of Farmer's Wife Fail in Their Purpose.

Lima, O., Aug. 31.—Enraged at the success of Sheriff Sherman Eley in spiriting Charles Daniels, a negro accused of assaulting Mrs. John Barber, young wife of a farmer, out of their reach, a mob captured the sheriff, seriously wounded him, placed a noose around his neck and forced him to direct a cortege of one hundred automobiles into the rough country north of here, where it is supposed the negro prisoner has been hidden.

Police Overpowered.
The motor mob, with Sheriff Eley, was found at a late hour, after deserting the scene where it had overpowered the Lima police and fire departments, broken into the jail, the court house and the home of the sheriff and forced the sheriff's wife and other women to flee with a baby in arms.

The mob formed around the Lima jail before dusk and leaders demanded admittance. Chief of Police McKinney called out his entire force, but the officers were overpowered in a hand to hand fight. It was announced the negro had been taken by Sheriff Eley to the Ohio state hospital for the criminal insane and that the jail was guarded by but one deputy and the sheriff's wife.

Mob Meets Sheriff.
Refusing to accept the announcement the mob forced Mrs. Eley to open the cells.

When Sheriff Eley returned he was met by the mob at the city limits. They demanded that he deliver the prisoner or tell where he was hidden. The sheriff reached his residence and refused to give up the negro.

The mob then broke in the front door as Eley escaped through a rear entrance. He was caught when entering the Elks' home and attacked. His clothes were stripped from his body and he was battered and kicked by the mob. Two of his ribs were broken.

Noose Placed Around Neck.

A rope was taken from the trolley of a street car and a noose placed around his neck. Eley held out even after the mob had thrown the noose over the crossarm of a telephone pole. After half an hour of torture and insults, during which he pleaded for the mob to respect his duty and office, the half unconscious man surrendered.

He was taken to a waiting motor truck, which formed the head of the procession of automobiles into which the mob climbed. The procession then left the city at high speed.

Citizens Refuse Aid.
While the mob held Eley a prisoner Chief of Police McKinney called on citizens to join his force, but was refused. The fire department was called out, but arrived just as the mob was starting away. The motor fire trucks were run three abreast down the street throwing chemicals on those of the mob that had not joined the motor procession, and the men on foot were dispersed.

SIX INDICTED AT VIRGINIA

I. W. W. Agitators, Miner and Woman Face Murder Charge.

Virginia, Minn., Aug. 31.—Carlo Trecca, Sam Scarlett and Joseph Schmidt, I. W. W. agitators, and Joseph Mickich, Joseph Cernogovich, miners, and Mrs. Milica Masonovich of Biwabik, were indicted by the grand jury here, charged with first degree murder and assault in connection with the killing of Deputy Sheriff James Myron at Biwabik, July 3.

The deputy sheriffs are vindicated for defending themselves and no one is indicted for the shooting of Tom Ladvala, the Biwabik "popman."

The killing of John Alar in a strike riot at Virginia, June 22, was investigated and the jury finds Alar fired the first shot at the crowd and absolves whoever shot him.

SUE TO RECOVER LARGE SUM

Stockholders of New Haven Road Want $160,000,000.

New York, Aug. 31.—Former officers, directors and counsel of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad were made defendants in a liability and restitution suit for more than $160,000,000, filed in the United States district court by five Massachusetts stockholders of the road.

The suit is based on evidence taken at the recent trial of William Rockefeller and other former directors of the road for criminal conspiracy under the Sherman anti-trust law.

ARGUES IN BATHING SUIT

Lawyer Hurries From Shore to Appear in Bankruptcy Case.

Belmar, N. J., Aug. 31.—The unusual spectacle of a lawyer appearing in a bathing suit in court on legal business was witnessed here when Tobias A. Keppler, who has offices in the Woolworth building, New York, strode into the office of Referee in Bankruptcy Charles H. Butcher and entered a plea that the bankruptcy hearing of John Applegate, a fish dealer in the Fulton market, New York, be postponed.

His request granted, he sped away to resume his interrupted ocean bath.

U. S. to Represent Roumania.

Washington, Aug. 31.—The United States has been requested by Roumania to take over her interests in Austria. Ambassador Penfield at Vienna informed the state department of the request. If satisfactory to Austria, officials said, this country would accede. Imposition of a very strict censorship in the Balkans is seen by officials in the fact that no word has come from American Minister Vopicka at Bucharest for more than a week.

Fire on Mexican Snipers.

Mercedes, Tex., Aug. 31.—Four shots were fired into the camp of A company, First Minnesota regiment, stationed at Mercedes pumping station, from the Mexican side of the Rio Grande resulting in a general exchange. About 150 shots were fired. None of the Americans was injured, but it is not known if the American bullets reached their mark.

$20,000,000 RATE RAISE SUSPENDED

Washington, Aug. 31.—Proposed increases in transcontinental freight rates from the coast to intermountain territory and from the Pacific coast to the east, which it was estimated would bring the railroads about $20,000,000 a year additional revenue, have been suspended by the interstate commerce commission for further investigation. They were to have become effective Sept. 1.

The commission suspended the rates until Dec. 31 pending investigation to determine their reasonableness. The increases proposed were on fruits, vegetables, dry goods and many other commodities. More than 600 shippers were represented here recently and protested against the increase. The increases were proposed after the commission had held several months ago that transcontinental roads did not now have to meet the competition of the Panama canal and that lower rates than these now in question could not be justified for this reason and for the reason that this transcontinental traffic should pay its share of the total burden of transportation.

NURSES SENT TO BORDER

Red Cross Experts Will Work Among Troops There.

Washington, Aug. 31.—The American Red Cross has announced that fifty-five of its most expert nurses had been sent to the border for duty with the troops and that additional groups had been organized and were ready to go as soon as the war department designates places for them.

The department recently asked the organization to choose a hundred nurses for border service. Two are being taken from each of the twenty-five Red Cross base hospital units recently organized, so that all the units may be placed on a better footing for actual service.

STOLEN MEXICAN SHIELD.

Bears Coat of Arms and Disappeared Night Madero Abducted.

Douglas, Ariz.—A rawhide shield, bearing the embossed national emblem of Mexico, stolen from the Hall of Ambassadors of Mexico City the night Francisco I. Madero was seized by his officers and forced to abdicate the presidency of the republic, is in the possession of Ives G. Lelivier, Mexican consul here. He has written the Carranza government for authority to keep it.

The shield was taken by a customs officer from a Mexican who was trying to get across the international line at Nogales, Sonora. Its seizure by the customs officials ended a search of three years, beginning the night it was stolen after it had been cut by the bullets which flew from the pistols of officers and orderlies in a melee which started in the Hall of Ambassadors when Madero stood under the shield and protested against his arrest.

The rawhide hung on the wall in the days of Diaz, and President Huerta valued it so much that he commissioned detectives in an effort to find it.

SNAKE CAN'T HURT HIM.

"Prophet" Claims Immunity and Lets Copperhead Bite Him.

Cumberland, Md.—John Nash of near Elk Garden, styled "the white robed prophet" and "the divine healer," debated in a grove near Flintstone, this county, with the Rev. B. Y. S. Teter, a Dunkard minister. Following the debate Nash allowed himself to be bitten by a copperhead snake that was caught at Flintstone.

Nash asserts he has been bitten by all kinds of snakes and is immune to the poison. Barefooted and in patriarchal garb of white, with long hair and reddish beard, Nash attracts attention as he appears with his twelve-year-old son, similarly garbed and called by his father "Jacob the Prophet."

His face was wan from many days of fasting. He said the fasting would strengthen his spirit for the debate. Nash is a former United States soldier.

DOG GUARDS NEWSPAPERS.

Growsl When Passersby Read the Headlines Too Long.

Chicago.—Newsboys with street corner stands believe there is a limit to the time a passerby may stop and read the headlines of these sellers on their stands. One of these sellers has left the final verdict to his dog.

Nellie has been so well trained she seems to know when a person means just to keep on reading with no intention of buying.

Nellie passes many hours daily on a shelf in the stand where her master's papers are displayed. When a pedestrian stops long enough to read the war news of both Europe and Mexico she utters a slight growl. The next warning is a bit louder. If the reader still does not move on, Nellie gets up on her feet and thereafter war dispatches hold no further interest for the reader.

Washington, Aug. 31.—The United States has been requested by Roumania to take over her interests in Austria. Ambassador Penfield at Vienna informed the state department of the request. If satisfactory to Austria, officials said, this country would accede. Imposition of a very strict censorship in the Balkans is seen by officials in the fact that no word has come from American Minister Vopicka at Bucharest for more than a week.

$20,000,000 RATE RAISE SUSPENDED

Washington, Aug. 31.—Proposed increases in transcontinental freight rates from the coast to intermountain territory and from the Pacific coast to the east, which it was estimated would bring the railroads about $20,000,000 a year additional revenue, have been suspended by the interstate commerce commission for further investigation. They were to have become effective Sept. 1.

The commission suspended the rates until Dec. 30 pending investigation to determine their reasonableness.

The increases proposed were on fruits, vegetables, dry goods and many other commodities. More than 600 shippers were represented here recently and protested against the increase.

The increases were proposed after the commission had held several months ago that transcontinental roads did not now have to meet the competition of the Panama canal and that lower rates than these now in question could not be justified for this reason and for the reason that this transcontinental traffic should pay its share of the total burden of transportation.

NURSES SENT TO BORDER

Red Cross Experts Will Work Among Troops There.

Washington, Aug. 31.—The American Red Cross has announced that fifty-five of its most expert nurses had been sent to the border for duty with the troops and that additional groups had been organized and were ready to go as soon as the war department designated places for them.

The department recently asked the organization to choose a hundred nurses for border service. Two are being taken from each of the twenty-five Red Cross base hospital units recently organized, so that all the units may be placed on a better footing for actual service.

STOLEN MEXICAN SHIELD.

Bears Coat of Arms and Disappeared Night Madero Abducted.

Douglas, Ariz.—A rawhide shield, bearing the embossed national emblem of Mexico, stolen from the Hall of Ambassadors of Mexico City the night Francisco I. Madero was seized by his officers and forced to abdicate the presidency of the republic, is in the possession of Ives G. Lelievre, Mexican consul here. He has written the Carranza government for authority to keep it.

The shield was taken by a customs officer from a Mexican who was trying to get across the international line at Nogales, Sonora.

Its seizure by the customs officials ended a search of three years, beginning the night it was stolen after it had been cut by the bullets which fell from the pistols of officers and orderlies in a melee which started in the Hall of Ambassadors when Madero stood under the shield and protested against his arrest.

The rawhide hung on the wall in the days of Diaz, and President Huerta valued it so much that he commissioned detectives in an effort to find it.

SNAKE CAN'T HURT HIM.

"Prophet" Claims Immunity and Lets Copperhead Bite Him.

Cumberland, Md.—John Nash of near Elk Garden, styled "the white robed prophet" and "the divine healer," debated in a grove near Flintstone, this county, with the Rev. B. Y. S. Teter, a Dunkard minister. Following the debate Nash allowed himself to be bitten by a copperhead snake that was caught at Flintstone.

Nash asserts he has been bitten by all kinds of snakes and is immune to the poison. Barefooted and in patriarchal garb of white, with long hair and reddish beard, Nash attracts attention as he appears with his twelve-year-old son, similarly garbed and called by his father "Jacob the Prophet."

His face was wan from many days of fasting. He said the fasting would strengthen his spirit for the debate. Nash is a former United States soldier.

DOG GUARDS NEWSPAPERS.

Growsl When Passersby Read the Headlines Too Long.

Chicago.—Newsboys with street corner stands believe there is a limit to the time a passerby may stop and read the headlines of these sellers on their stands. One of these sellers has left the final verdict to his dog.

Nellie has been so well trained she seems to know when a person means just to keep on reading with no intention of buying.

Nellie passes many hours daily on a shelf in the stand where her master's papers are displayed. When a pedestrian stops long enough to read the war news of both Europe and Mexico she utters a slight growl. The next warning is a bit louder. If the reader still does not move on, Nellie gets up on her feet and thereafter war dispatches hold no further interest for the reader.

DULL, DRAB MAN.

The men who are honest only because they have learned that honesty is the best policy, the men who tell the truth only because they are afraid they will be found out, the men who have none of that manliness that will stake all on a principle, are dull and drab—Dean Charles R. Brown at Chautauqua.
